About

BigBlueButton is an open-source video conferencing tool integrated with Blackboard (Learn@Seneca). It is one of four platforms available for online classes. BigBlueButton is accessed from the web browser, it does not require any download or installation. The platform is lightweight and offers essential features for synchronous online sessions.

License

If enabled by instructor, students can find the tool within Blackboard courses (Learn@Seneca). Due to the restrictions in some countries, students studying from within these countries may require Student VPN to access BigBlueButton.
