

Seneca student wins big at national tourism contest

Published 11/21/2022 by Stephanie Conte

Joana Lame, a student from Seneca's Global Hospitality Operations Management graduate certificate program, has been selected as one of the two winners of the Future Leaders Contest — a national contest hosted by Air Canada and the Tourism Industry Association of Canada. Ms. Lame was selected based off of her submission package.

Ms. Lame will be presented with a special recognition on Tuesday, Nov. 22 during the 2022 Tourism Congress, held in Ottawa, Ontario. She is among only two students across Canada who were invited to attend.

tags : student-news